Sullivan's Case Taken Up by the Special Grand-Jury.

The Decision in the Habeas Corpus Proceedings Delayed.

Indictments Against Alexander Sullivan, Maroney and McDonald to Be Returned This Evening—Arrangements for a Memorial Convention.

Argument in the New York Habeas Corpus Proceedings Postponed—Father Cronin's Comments—Maroney's Counsel—The Regulations in Regular Form.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 14.—Arrangements for the big memorial meeting which will be held on June 28 to commemorate the death of Dr. Cronin are nearly completed. The Managing Committee, has issued invitations to leading citizens of every nationality and it is expected that the hall will be crowded with representative men. Mayor Cregier will preside and Gov. Fifer will deliver an address. The stage will be occupied by Congressmen, leading lawyers, editors and the officers of societies. A feature of the programme will be singing by several German societies that have promised to be present in a body.

JUDGE TULEY'S DECISION POSTPONED.

At the opening of his court this morning Judge Tuley said that he would not be ready to announce his opinion in the matter of Alexander Sullivan's release on bail until 3 o'clock. It is reported that the course was reported because it is thought that Grand-jury will take some action in the matter to-day.

THE GRAND JURY.

The Grand-jury resumed its work this morning and a number of witnesses were examined. Judge Longenecker was asked about the possibility of indictments against McDonald and Maroney, the two New York suspects, being returned to-day and he said that he hoped to secure indictments in order to head off the habeas corpus proceeding in New York.

"If any action is taken in this matter," he said, "it will be taken before night."

INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS.

The special Grand-jury resumed its investigations in the Cronin case this morning, but its proceedings were delayed by some developments as those of yesterday. In fact, it hourly becomes more apparent that the inquiries of the Grand-jury are not a little more than a repetition of the investigations of the coroner's inquest.

The Grand-jury, however, is not deterred by these developments, and they are telling their same old stories over again, with not even variation enough to excite interest. W. P. Hatfield, salesman for A. H. Revell & Co., the furniture dealers, was before the jury this morning and testified as to the purchase of the purchase by "J. B. Simons" of the furniture of the Cronin cottage. He was shown a photograph of John J. Maroney, the New York suspect, and testified that it resembled greatly the individual who paraded under the alias of Simons. The likeness was acknowledged even by those who knew Maroney to be a somewhat defective one and Mr. Hatfield, who had not cause to scrutinize Simons, can hardly be expected to testify positively as to details of resemblances. His evidence, however, is deemed conclusive enough to leave no doubt that a true bill will be rendered against Maroney, and indictments may be reported at any time against this man and to excite interest.

REVELL'S FINANCIAL TRANSACTIONS.

Interest in the proceedings revived when just before noon Byron L. Smith, Receiver of the defunct Traders' Bank, mounted the stand followed by a messenger bearing the bank books of 1882, the date of Alexander Sullivan's arrest. The Grand-jury, however, was not interested in the details of the bank's affairs, and the messenger was shortly followed by John W. Moore of the firm of J. T. Lester & Co., Sullivan's brokers. The advent of these witnesses meant that the attention of the jury had, for the time, diverted from Maroney and McDonald to an inquiry into the financial transactions of Sullivan's associates.

Another striking proof of the fact that an indictment drawn up by the late Assistant United States District Attorney is equivalent to an acquittal.

STATE AID FOR JOHNSTOWN.
Pennsylvania appropriated and paid millions of dollars to make good the damage done to railroad property by the strike riots of 1877. This was done on the ground that the State had been remiss in affording proper protection, but it was a voluntary act on the part of the Legislature, and not such a court judgment for damages as the municipalities involved in the riots were subjected to. The South Fork dam was built by the State for a public purpose, and afterwards sold and transferred to a private corporation for money. The State was, therefore, even more directly responsible for the Johnstown disaster than for the Pittsburgh riots. But when Gov. BEAVER proposed to use a couple of millions of State money, giving ample security for its restoration if the Legislature refuses to sanction such an expenditure for the relief of Johnstown, a great outcry was heard that such an appropriation even by the Legislature would be unconstitutional, and that the use of the money unauthorized by an appropriation would be little better than robbery of the Treasury by its executive guardian.

The State Constitution does forbid appropriations "for charitable, educational or benevolent purposes to any person or community." But as this did not prevent appropriations in the Pittsburgh case, nor in dozens of others apparently more obnoxious to the constitutional provision than the Johnstown case, the reasons for the outcry against the proposed use of State money seem to grow out of a disposition to let the individual contributions of the people of the United States relieve Pennsylvania of this burden.

A Massachusetts appropriation for Johnstown was checked by an opinion from the Attorney General that the Legislature had no authority to pass it. But when a State's own people are the victims of an awful calamity for which the State itself is largely responsible, too much red tape and strict construction would be simply disgraceful. The bankers who offer to advance the money will not only be reimbursed but thanked by the Legislature.

Gov. BEAVER has decided not to take $1,000,000 out of the Pennsylvania State Treasury under bond for the relief of Johnstown, but will accept a loan of this amount from the Philadelphia banks. The Governor's decision is wise. While the emergency would warrant the use of the State's funds, yet the generous offer of the Philadelphia bankers makes it unnecessary to establish the dangerous precedent of using the people's money without the consent of their representatives. There is no doubt that the Legislature will cheerfully reimburse the men who furnish the money.

SOME excitement was caused in the Republican caucus by distinct charges that $500 had been offered for one vote and $1,200 for two for CHANDLER, but he authorized a denial that he knew anything about the offer to purchase votes for him, and he was made the Republican nominee for Senator. Votes must be very cheap when "BILL" CHANDLER can get them for nothing. But political freaks of one sort and another have long been a sort of badge of the New Hampshire Republicans to keep two of the most noted ones representing them in the United States Senate.

MAYOR NOONAN has been asked to be the bearer to Johnstown of funds collected in this city for the benefit of the sufferers. If the Mayor consents to go, it is safe to wager $1,000 to 10 that he will not bring the funds back again. The Mayor is not that kind of a man and St. Louis is not that kind of a city. The unenviable distinction of giving and taking back again belongs to Chicago alone.

SCIENCE has conquered sentiment at Johnstown. The torch was applied to the mass of wreckage piled against the stone bridge yesterday. From the way in which the State authorities and the citizens of the town are getting to work, there is every reason to believe that the evidence of the disaster will soon be cleared away and the normal course of commercial activity will be resumed.

A LONDON dispatch says the leakage of Samoan Conference secrets has shocked European diplomats, who agree in holding our commissioners responsible. Publicity in state affairs is the chief dread of European statesmen, and they have a holy horror of government by newspapers. Our commissioners, on the contrary, have learned that a reasonable degree of ventilation is not dangerous.

SECRETARY BLAINE is inclined to be stiff in his demands on the Samoan Conference. His ultimatum has been sent to Berlin and is said to be causing some trouble and delay in arriving at a satisfactory conclusion. Mr. BLAINE should remember that there is danger in pushing an advantage too far and that while "claiming everything" he should be satisfied with enough.

IF the President would only turn the waste water around the White House into a permanent moat and hold the string of the draw-bridge himself he could gather his family of office-holders around him and thoroughly enjoy the Presidency. His days of bliss on an island must have been his appetite for solitude.

NULTY OF BOONVILLE

PUSHING HIS CLAIM FOR APPOINTMENT AS MARSHAL OF ALASKA.

The Missouri Strongly Backed for the Place—District Attorney Kimball's Assistant—“Farmer” Wade Believes Representative Kinsey—The President's Trip Down the Potomac—Fidelity Bank Dividend—Washington News.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—For some time there has been a vacancy in the office of United States Marshal for Alaska, and it is necessary that a new appointee shall be made by the 1st of September, in order to do which he must leave some weeks earlier to make the steamer sailing to the seal country. There are at least a dozen applicants for this important place, none of whom are more strongly indorsed than Patrick H. McNulty of Boonville, Mo. The gentleman is here doing what he can for himself with the aid of such names as Gen. Henderson and Col. Pat Dyer. In fact, he has all the Republicans and Republican institutions of the State behind him and the good will of Senator Quay of Pennsylvania. Mr. McNulty feels pretty confident, only fearing some of the aspirants from the Pacific Coast.

It is pretty well known that for three months past a determined effort has been made to effect a removal of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics. While it cannot be said when this change will be effected, those Republicans who are here working for it say it is not very far off.

“One thing I have been assured,” said one who ought to know this morning, “Major Brock of Missouri is a good man, a scholar and a gentleman; besides he did good work last year in Missouri for his party.”

The indications that the Attorney-General would recommend a United States Marshal for Western Missouri, and the statement that he had delayed the appointment of an assistant District Attorney to Mr. Kimball, owing to the pending cases which demanded the incumbent's attention, have brought Representative Wade of Springfield, Mo., to the capital. The general “farmer” will straightway proceed to see what he can do to have the order for the retention of the Democratic Assistant Attorney revoked. He will proceed to effect a few Post-office renewals, and find a small band of recruits here who would like his indorsement for appointment.

The case of the United States against Dr. Sidney Cunningham of Howard County, Mo., is proceeding this morning in the Criminal Court here. The doctor was Paymaster of the House under Gen. John B. Clark, and fired a pistol at a man named Hickman who had angered him. The friends of the doctor rest a little uneasy about the judgment, but he has able lawyers defending him, and the general opinion is that the conviction will be for simple assault, punishable with a fine and jail sentence. There is much sympathy for him.

Hon. Matt G. Reynolds has delayed his departure for St. Louis until to-morrow, owing to the absence of the Attorney-General from the city. Mr. Reynolds has not paid him his farewell respects.

As Mr. Wade has arrived, Mr. Kinsey will now be able to get away, leaving Missouri matters in his care.

A very intelligent colored man from St. Louis, Charles Raynor, is here bearing a testimonial from Representative Frank. He has made application for a position, but so far has not met his expectations. A Missouri colony take an interest in him and would like to see him provided for.

Down the Potomac.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—The President will make another trip down the Potomac to-morrow in Postmaster-General Wanamaker's yacht. He will have here in the morning about 10 o'clock and will probably not return before Sunday evening. A number of gentlemen have been invited to accompany him, including several members of the Cabinet.

Fidelity Bank Dividend.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—The Comptroller of the Currency has declared a second dividend of 10 per cent in favor of the creditors of the Fidelity Bank of Cincinnati, making in all 35 per cent on claims proved amounting to $5,353,292. This bank failed June 30, 1887.

Admiral Gherardi.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—Admiral Gherardi has informed the Navy Department that he will sail from New York for Hayti, Sunday, on the Keosan.

New York, June 14, 11 a. m.—Before 10 o'clock this morning $5,000,000 gold was ordered for export and the London figures coming from this market reflected with decidedly lower prices than compared with those of last evening. The declines extended to 10 per cent generally, but Jersey Central was a notable exception with a loss of 1 per cent at 11.10. There was a fairly active business done but in the regular list New England and St. Paul were the only shares, the remainder being quiet to dull and among the small ones. Cotton—The market was quiet, but there were some small transactions in the early trading, but in many stocks there were no active movements. However, a considerable irregularity in the movement was shown. Atchafalaya and Burlington displayed most weakness and declined 1/2 and 1/4 per cent respectively, and remained at the lowest points. While the Texas and Fort Worth was strong and rose 1/4. Among the metals, lead and cotton oil were steady, but sugar developed marked weakness and declined 2 per cent. In 100s, on comparatively light trading, at 11 o'clock the market was fairly active and weak at fractions. Money is easy at 2 per cent. Bar silver 92 1/2. The weakness in the stock market continued after 10 o'clock, but the further losses were confined to small fractions except in New England, which dropped 1 1/2 per cent to 50 1/2. The market then became much less active and prices recovered somewhat, and New England and sugar trusts advanced about 1 per cent each. The animation was still confined to the stocks with the exception of Cotton oil, which retired from its former prominent position, and declined 1/2 per cent. The highest point, 4 1/2, was above 11 o'clock. At noon the market was still fairly active and at about opening prices. 3 p. m.—The stock market closed quiet, but firm at about opening prices. 4 p. m.—Consols opened at 94 3/4 for money and the account.
